Other Indie Favorites

Unraveling Oliver: A Novel, by Liz Nugent

(Gallery/Scout Press, $26) “Oliver, the titular center of Liz Nugent’s chilling debut thriller, will attract and repel the reader as his deep wounds and legacy of destruction are revealed by his own confessions and by the recollections of those whose lives intersect with his. The novel opens with Oliver, a successful writer living in apparent domestic contentment, beating his wife into a coma. Why? As Oliver’s crimes come into focus, Nugent’s brilliance is in balancing the evil he does with the evil that is done to him. Is he to be reviled or pitied? Or both?” —Anmiryam Budner, Main Point Books, Wayne, PA

The Hidden Light of Northern Fires: A Novel, by Daren Wang

(Thomas Dunne Books, $26.99) “In The Hidden Light of Northern Fires, a town on the Underground Railroad secedes from the Union after it becomes fractured by the politics of the American Civil War. While Wang’s tale benefits from being based on truth, that is a moot point. His well-developed, very real characters and masterful writing are all that’s needed for an incredible debut. Though a novel of the home front, it is nonetheless a war novel focusing on how conflict brings out the best and worst in people. It is one of the best works of historical fiction on the Civil War that I’ve ever read, and perhaps even that exists.” —Carl Kranz, The Fountain Bookstore, Richmond, VA
