APRIL 2009

The American Booksellers Association has partnered with the Genocide Prevention Project to help commemorate April as Genocide Prevention Month, a focused period to call for a strong policy framework that is committed to the prevention of genocide.

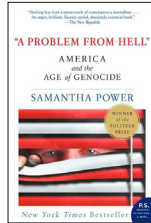

The titles on this list testify to the historical realities and human tragedies of genocide—and the acts of courage and commitment of those dedicated to fighting genocide.

The titles selected are based on bookseller recommendations, critical acclaim, and sales. You can learn more about Genocide Prevention Month at www.genocidepreventionmonth.org, and you can find your nearest independent bookstore at www.indiebound.org. (Unless otherwise noted, all titles are paperback editions.)
