Other Indie Favorites

The Wolves of Winter: A Novel, by Tyrell Johnson (Scribner, $26) "When all the terrible things imaginable—and unimaginable—happen, all that is left is your family, whether blood or those you bond with in the aftermath of devastation. Teenager Lynn McBride remembers the world before—before nuclear war, before the flu, and even before her family moved to the Canadian Yukon—and those memories tease and haunt her while giving us clues to her history. While her family struggles daily for food and warmth, they are together and they watch out for each other, never encountering strangers—until Jax shows up..." —Eileen McGervey, One More Page Books, Arlington, VA

Green: A Novel, by Sam Graham-Felsen (Random House, $27) "Please read Green. You will fall in love with Graham-Felsen's David from his first utterances on page one of this original, thought-provoking twist on an important subject—race relations. Thank God David has such a great voice and there are so many humorous moments, or else I may have felt extremely sad about his experiences of being such an outsider. A truly memorable moment-in-time novel and a great read." —Sue Roegge, Chapter2Books, Hudson, WI
