Other Indie Favorites

The Other Life, by Ellen Meister (Putnam, $24.95)
"Quinn's artistic mother took her own life, leaving Quinn wondering why. To help her cope on this journey, Quinn has the ability to travel between two parallel worlds via hidden portals. One world is a safe, suburban life with her husband, Lewis, and their young son Isaac on Long Island, albeit a world filled with the reality of her mother's death. The other is a dramatic life in New York City with neurotic Eugene, a life in which her mother is still very much alive." —Annie Philbrick, Bank Square Books, Mystic, CT

Deep Future: The Next 100,000 Years of Life on Earth, by Curt Stager (Thomas Dunne Books, $25.99)
"Stager, a scientist who drills down into the earth and reads what the layers tell us about the history of the environment and climate change, uses that information to speculate on what the future might be like. The results are not as predictable as one might think. Neither the ardent environmentalists who see the end of life on the horizon, nor the naysayers who think the whole idea of climate change is bunk, will be vindicated." —Jonathon Welch, Talking Leaves Inc, Buffalo, NY

Another Indie Favorite

Whiter Than Snow by Sandra Dallas (St. Martin's Press, $24.99) "Dallas has written another absorbing book filled with compelling characters. In 1920, an avalanche devastates a poor mining town high in the Colorado mountains. Nine children are trapped on their way home from school, and only four survive. Each child's family has a story. Was it chance or destiny that brought them to Swandyke from such different backgrounds? Don't miss this one! —Laurie Krushenisky, MacDonald Book Shop, Estes Park, CO

Another Indie Favorite for Teen Readers

Strings Attached, by Judy Blundell (Scholastic Press, $17.99) "Teen runaway Kit has a job as a chorus girl at a nightclub, but not much else. She is approached by her ex-boyfriend's father, who may or may not have Mafia ties, and he asks her to do him a little favor: In exchange, he'll set her up in an apartment and get her a better job. No strings attached...right? This stylish and chilling story, which has everything going for it, will keep teen readers hooked." —Jennifer Laughran, Oblong Books & Music, Rhinebeck, NY
