Other Indie Favorites

Boleto: A Novel, by Alyson Hagy (Graywolf Press, $24) "Will Testerman is a horse whisperer who journeys from rodeo to dude ranch to polo field searching for his niche in the world. That sounds simple and classic, but this story of a young cowboy and his horse brings the currents that roil beneath the surface of Western calm into the light of dawn. Original and beautifully told." —Laura DeLaney, The Rediscovered Bookshop, Boise, ID

The Uninvited Guests: A Novel, by Sadie Jones (Harper, $24.99) "This is a comedy of manners in an Edwardian family manor in the English countryside that quickly spins into a zany tale of people who are not who they appear to be or are not who they think they are. Its many twists and turns keep the reader amused and completely intrigued. A delightful romp!" —Karen T. Harris, Bunch of Grapes Bookstore, Vineyard Haven, MA

Another Indie Favorite for Teen Readers

I Hunt Killers, by Barry Lyga (Little, Brown Young Readers, $17.99) "Growing up the son of one of the country's most notorious serial killers, 17-year-old Jasper 'Jazz' Dent has an intimate understanding of how killers think, and sometimes it scares him just how much he knows. Determined to use his knowledge for good, Jazz tries—uninvited—to help the local police solve a murder. When the bodies start to pile up, and it becomes clear that the town has another serial killer on its hands, Jazz realizes he has put himself and his friends in harm's way. Fast-paced, funny, and utterly original, I Hunt Killers marks the start of an electric new teen series." —David Mallmann, Next Chapter Bookshop, Mequon, WI
