Other Indie Favorites

Alif the Unseen: A Novel, by G. Willow Wilson (Grove Press, $25) "Alif is an Arab-Indian computer hacker who gets into deep trouble when he tries to erase himself from the web. His troubles only increase when he receives an ancient text — written by the mythological Jinn — that may be the key to unlocking a whole new way of programming. This smartly written, action-packed thriller is reminiscent of the early works of Neal Stephenson and William Gibson. Unpredictable to the very end — I could not put it down!" — James Wilson, Octavia Books, New Orleans, LA

Some Kind of Fairy Tale: A Novel, by Graham Joyce (Doubleday, $24.95) "Twenty years ago, 15-year-old Tara Martin disappeared without a trace, until one Christmas morning when she appears out of the blue, looking as though she were still a teenager and claiming she was lured away by 'the fairies.' A mysterious and unknown figure with deep insight and untold answers serves as narrator, and readers are kept on edge as they try to answer the question: Where has Tara been? A mind-bending psychological narrative filled with mystery and beautifully written prose." — Heath Christman, Warwick's, La Jolla, CA
