Other Indie Favorites

Three Graves Full: A Novel, by Jamie Mason (Gallery, $24.99) "Three Graves Full gives us a fresh, entertaining twist on the murder mystery genre. A coward can snap if pushed too far; which is why Jason Getty has a body buried in his backyard. This is stressing him out so much that he has to hire a landscaping crew to deal with his lawn—and they are the ones who find a different body in his flowerbed, not the one he buried. The police investigation turns up a third body, and from there this tightly plotted, suspense-filled tale twists and turns like the country roads of its setting. A great read!" —Carol Schneck Varner, Schuler Books & Music, Okemos, MI

The Hour of Peril: The Secret Plot to Murder Lincoln Before the Civil War, by Daniel Stashower (Minotaur, $26.99) "This engaging book by Edgar Award-winning author Stashower is filled with anecdotes, quotes from contemporary sources, and excellent backstories that interweave four strands of little-known American history: the rise of Allan Pinkerton, America's original 'private eye'; the critical period between Lincoln's election and his inauguration, when the country teetered on the precipice; how Lincoln dealt with the crisis before he had the power of office; and the plot to assassinate him before he took office on March 4, 1861. Highly recommended for anyone fascinated by American history." —Jim McFarlane, Fiction Addiction, Greenville, SC
