In the House Upon the Dirt Between the Lake and the Woods: A Novel, by Matt Bell (Soho Press, $25) "In a narrative voice like smooth bourbon, Bell's excellent debut novel is a modern folktale of opposing elements: lake and dirt, bear and squid, song and ghost. Telling the tale with a quiet brutality, Bell finds heart and perseverance in nature that is red in tooth and claw, as the unnamed narrator inexorably strives against forces vastly more powerful than he could ever hope to be, for the woman he loves and the family life he wants." —Josh Cook, Porter Square Books, Cambridge, MA

Instructions for a Heat Wave: A Novel, by Maggie O'Farrell (Knopf, $25.95) "What happens to one Irish family living in London during the oppressive 1976 summer heatwave, when patriarch Richard Riordan mysteriously disappears on a seemingly simple walk to buy the morning newspaper? As his three adult children return home to support their mother, Gretta, past resentments and longstanding secrets emerge in this insightful portrait of a family in crisis. I was immediately engaged by all of the characters, who are not only vulnerable, but also endearing. Subtle, graceful writing at its best!" —Jane Glaser, Boswell Book Company, Milwaukee, WI
