Other Indie Favorites

Brown Dog: Novellas, by Jim Harrison (Grove Press, $27)

"I've been reading Jim Harrison since I was 16 years old and always look forward to another of his books. Brown Dog is an especially big treat since it brings together five previously published novellas as well as a sixth one never before published, entitled 'He Dog.' Reading all of the novellas, one realizes that the portrait of the travails of Brown Dog is one of the greatest literary journeys of our time." —Cody Morrison, Square Books, Oxford, MS

The Housemaid's Daughter, by Barbara Mutch (St. Martin's Press, $26.99)

"In 1919, Cathleen Harrington, a young woman from a poor Irish family, emigrates to South Africa to marry a man unknown to her. She befriends the black housekeeper and her baby and makes them both feel that her home is their home, while ignoring the rules of apartheid-era white society where the power of skin is greater than the closest ties of blood. Cathleen teaches Ada, her housekeeper's daughter, to read and play the piano, and Ada becomes a woman with wisdom and intelligence to rival that of any educated child. The Housemaid's Daughter is a novel to cherish and share with all ages." —Karen Briggs, Great Northern Books & Hobbies, Oscoda, MI
