Mimi Malloy, At Last! A Novel, by Julia MacDonnell (Picador, $25) "In this family drama, MacDonnell does a fine job of conjuring up the Irish Catholic diaspora and its ramifications, which play out well into the last part of the 20th century. Mimi lives on her own in Boston but not without her nosy daughters coming around all the time. Mimi is having flashbacks to her youth and through conversations with her sisters she remembers the dark secret that has been hanging over the family for years. Unforgettable!" —Valerie Koehler, Blue Willow Bookshop, Houston, TX

The Plover: A Novel, by Brian Doyle (Thomas Dunne Books, $24.99) "A solitary sea journey for an epically disillusioned man named Declan O'Donnell evolves into a rousing adventure tale in Doyle's The Plover. O'Donnell's small boat becomes the refuge of a number of unexpected—and largely unwelcome—passengers, all of them anxious to leave their former lives bobbing in the ship's wake. Lyrical and literate, this novel is as much a love story dedicated to the sea as it is an exciting and ultimately moving human drama." —Alden Graves, Northshire Bookstore, Manchester Center, VT
