The Collector of Dying Breaths: A Novel of

 Suspense, by M.J. Rose (Atria, $25) "Jac L'Etoile, the heroine first introduced in The Book of Lost Fragrances, is quickly engulfed in a quest to create an elixir that will bring souls back to life using a person's last, dying breath. Her patrons are the mysterious Greek heiress Melinoe and her stepbrother, Serge, whose sibling relationship raises many questions for Jac. As Jac's former lover, Griffin, assists her in the pursuit to recreate the elixir based on notes left behind by René le Florentine, the two are drawn into the past life of René, his lover Isabeau, and the dynamic, manipulative Catherine de Médici." -Stacey Harris, Books & Books, Coral Gables, FL

Learning to Walk in the Dark, by Barbara Brown Taylor (HarperOne, $24.99) "Why are we so quick to light the night, to focus only on the positive, and to dismiss discomfort? When is the last time you noticed darkness within you, took a moment to figure out its source, and then let it be? Taylor set out to do just that in her new memoir. She wanted to learn how our culture has lost its balance by demonizing darkness and how she might regain equilibrium. Taylor watched the moon rise, explored a cave, and delved into the writings of those who had already embraced the shadows to remind us that even in the dark, we can find strength." -Hannah Johnson-Breimeier, Boswell Book Company, Milwaukee, WI
