Other Indie Favorites

On Immunity: An Inoculation, by Eula Biss (Graywolf Press, $24) "Biss' essays about the immunization debate range from the personal to the body politic and back again. Drawing on her experiences as a mother and employing an astonishing diversity of sources, Biss plumbs our ancient fear of infection. Acknowledging the permeability of both our borders and bodies, she arrives at the conclusion that 'immunity is a shared space — a garden we tend together.' Biss' precise language and wry humor make On Immunity as engaging as it is informative." —Brooke Alexander, Brazos Bookstore, Dallas, TX

Gutenberg's Apprentice: A Novel, by Alix Christie (Harper, $27.99) "This novel about the making of the first printed book, the Gutenberg Bible, is a dramatic and gripping tale of betrayal and intrigue. A young scribe is apprenticed to the visionary and difficult genius Johann Gutenberg at the behest of his father, Gutenberg's financial backer. Tension between genius and finance, between old ways and new, which is aggravated by threats from the Church and the traditional guilds, makes for a great read. Christie is a master printer herself, and in Gutenberg's Apprentice she brings a real feeling for the beauty and artistry of printing and honors one of the most revolutionary achievements in history." —Rod Froke, DIESEL: A Bookstore, Larkspur, CA
