Other Indie Favorites

Wait for Signs: Twelve Longmire Stories, by Craig Johnson (Viking, $22) "Sometimes short stories hit the spot, especially when they're set in a favorite world. For years, Johnson has gifted his friends with stories at Christmas, and this anthology has brought them together for the first time, along with one new story. For the uninitiated, this is a wonderful introduction into Walt Longmire's world, and for those already familiar with Absaroka County, Wyoming, these little snippets of time spent with favorite characters will be like little vacations, a series of short visits with old friends. Sometimes funny, sometimes touching, and always entertaining, Wait for Signs is a complete delight." —JB Dickey, Seattle Mystery Bookshop, Seattle, WA

The Midnight Plan of the Repo Man: A Novel, by W. Bruce Cameron (Forge Books, $24.99) "This madcap romp through the not-so-scenic parts of northern Michigan—a very beautiful and scenic part of the country for the most part—will keep you laughing until the very last page. Let us hope that there are more Ruddy McCann adventures on the way as Cameron, the bestselling author of A Dog's Purpose and A Dog's Journey, could well become the Carl Hiaasen of the North." —Jill Miner, Saturn Booksellers, Gaylord, MI

Another Indie Favorite

Stringer: A Reporter's Journey in the Congo, by Anjan Sundaram (Anchor, $15.95) "The tumultuous history of the Congo is fraught with power at its most corrupt, capitalism in its greediest form, and human survival at its most desperate. Sundaram, who lives in Kigali, Rwanda, knew nothing of journalism or the Congo when he traveled there to write about the country and pursue a writing career. This debut is the result of an 18-month occupation during which Sundaram is robbed, contracts malaria, and sees firsthand the undignified crushing of the human soul. This reportage in its most excellent form—immediate, informative, and riveting." —Sarah Bagby, Watermark Books & Café, Wichita, KS

Another Indie Favorite for Teen Readers
Glory O'Brien's History of the Future, by A.S. King (Little, Brown Books for Young Readers, $18) "Glory O'Brien's best friend lives on a commune, her dad never leaves the couch, and all she has left of her mom are memories, an interest in photography, and a basement darkroom. High school is coming to an end, but Glory's future doesn't look like much—until a spontaneous decision unexpectedly results in Glory gaining the ability to see people's pasts and futures. This novel is unabashedly feminist and wickedly smart, and I can't recommend it highly enough." —Molly Templeton, WORD, BROOKLYN, NY
