Other Indie Favorites

Unbecoming: A Novel, by Rebecca Scherm (Viking, $27.95) "Julie rents a room in a dilapidated house outside of Paris. She repairs antiques, mostly things no one else wants, and is a loner with no friends or social life. In her room at night, she reads the news from Garland, Tennessee, her hometown, where two men are about to be let out on parole for a crime for which she was the mastermind. Julie is terrified of being found and is just trying to survive. This is an exhilarating page-turner with multi-layered characters and several good twists. Once you hit the halfway point, it's a race to the finish to find out what's going to happen." —Amanda Skelton, Union Avenue Books, Knoxville, TN

Mort(e): A Novel, by Robert Repino (Soho Press, $26.95) "Ants conquer the world and pets overthrow their masters in this smart, gripping novel. House cat Sebastian becomes Mort(e), a fearsome warrior for the animal cause. Battling across a dystopian landscape, flushing out the few human survivors, Mort(e) can never quite forget his domesticated past and lost friend, the dog Sheba. A crisis of conscience ensues. What is good? Who is evil? Are the dictatorial ants truly better than the humans with their germ warfare? Laced with humor, this action-packed thriller is thought-provoking." —Mariga Temple-West, Big Blue Marble Bookstore, Philadelphia, PA

Another Indie Favorite

Migratory Animals: A Novel, by Mary Helen Specht (Harper Perennial, $14.99) "Specht's novel weaves together stories of science and art, friends faraway and family returned. Migratory Animals is a coming-of-age tale for grown-ups, a reminder that growing pains don't stop as we age and change and become who we're supposed to be — or who we hope to be. Flannery and her friends will grab hold of you and not let go until the last page has been turned." —Annie B. Jones, The Bookshelf, Thomasville, GA

Another Indie Favorite for Ages 9 to 12
Grey (Disney-Hyperion, $16.99)

"In this first book of a new series, 12-year-old Bailey Walker is afraid he'll become the fourth person in Aldemere's history to die of the raving madness associated with an 'absence.' Populated by people who have special bonds with 'kin' animals, Aldemere is slipping into the hands of the Dominae, a political party whose members seek to use their bonding power to control all animals, and—eventually—people. How far will the Dominae go in demonstrating their beliefs, and how can Bailey possibly fight back without kin to help him?" —Melissa Morrow, Boswell Book Company, Milwaukee, WI
