Other Indie Favorites

Cat Out of Hell, by Lynne Truss (Melville House, $24.95) "Cat lover or hater, you'll be caught up in this quirky mystery from the author of Eats, Shoots and Leaves. Cat Out of Hell features Roger, a most unusual, talented, and enigmatic feline, and the humans he involves in a case worthy of Sherlock Holmes. Can Roger be trusted? Is Wiggy Winterton, the human aiding him, perhaps going 'wiggy'? You decide. It's a darkly funny hoot!" —Rosemary Pugliese, Quail Ridge Books & Music, Raleigh, NC

The Valley: A Novel, by John Renehan (Dutton, $26.95) "Lt. Black, a desk officer at a forward operating base in Afghanistan, has been ordered by his commander to investigate a complaint about a platoon stationed in the Valley, the most remote and dreaded American-occupied outpost in the country. It has been said that war brings out both the best and the worst in men, but what Black, who struggles with his own demons, comes to realize is that the truth is much more complicated and frightening. The Valley is rich with detail, compelling, and complex." —Lyn Roberts, Square Books, Oxford, MS
