Another Indie Favorite for Middle Grade Readers

The League of Beastly Dreadfuls: Book 1, by Holly Grant (Random House Books for Young Readers, $16.99)

"On the morning her parents die in a tragic vacuum-cleaner accident, Anastasia has only two things to worry about: wearing her Halloween costume the second day in a row and her gerbil taking revenge by pooping in her shoes. By the end of the day, her world has been changed forever by the sudden appearance of her long lost 'aunties' Prim and Prude, who whisk her off to live in their Victorian home. Previously St. Agony's Asylum for the Criminally Insane. This book is the ultimate read-aloud, filled with humor, bravery, and adventure reminiscent of Roald Dahl." —Hannah Moushabeck, Odyssey Bookshop, South Hadley, MA

Another Indie Favorite for Teen Readers

Ask the Dark, by Henry Turner (Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, $16.99) "Who could be a more convincing and compelling detective than a rough and roughly used boy who can't afford illusions? Ask the Dark takes hold of the reader with remarkable vigor. Its narrative extends into the reader's inner landscape and stirs up a nest of sleeping assumptions. How narrow is the distance between what we regard as moral and its behavioral opposites? If character is revealed only under pressure, is safety a dangerous luxury? Ask the dark." —Kenny Brechner, Devaney, Doak & Garrett Booksellers, Farmington, ME
