Book Scavenger, by Jennifer Chambliss Bertman (Henry Holt Books for Young Readers, $16.99)

"Garrison Griswold is Emily's idol. The developer of Book Scavenger, a wildly popular online game for book lovers, Griswold is a rock star in the book world. But when Emily's family moves to Griswold's hometown on the very day he has an unfortunate accident, Emily finds herself in possession of a valuable book that might be the first clue in a new game, or it may well be the first clue to discovering who is behind Griswold's accident. Book Scavenger has all the right ingredients for the perfect middle-grade novel." —Angie Tally, The Country Bookshop, Southern Pines, NC

Another Indie Favorite for Teen Readers

The Wrath and the Dawn, by Renée Ahdieh (Putnam Books for Young Readers, $17.99)

"In this reimagining of The Arabian Nights, Shahrzad's best friend has been killed by the vicious boy-king who takes wives and orders their death the following dawn. When Shahrzad volunteers to be next so that she can avenge her friend's murder and end the king's treachery once and for all, she stays her own execution by telling him a story and convincing him to keep her alive until it ends. This tale will knock readers off their feet with its romance, magic, and beautiful use of language." —Paige Mushaw, Northshire Bookstore, Manchester Center, VT
