Murder Is Bad Manners: A Wells and Wong Mystery, by Robin Stevens (Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers, $16.99)

"Hong Kong transplant Hazel Wong serves as Watson to Daisy Wells' Sherlock Holmes in this debut middle-grade mystery series set in 1934 at Deepdean School for Girls. After Hazel finds the body of Miss Bell, the science teacher, it suddenly disappears, setting the Wells and Wong Detective Society on the case. There are plenty of red herrings and wrong turns, but in the end Wells and Wong solve the case and leave readers eager to read more of their appealing tales." —Cathy Berner, Blue Willow Bookshop, Houston, TX

Another Indie Favorite for Teen Readers

The Porcupine of Truth, by Bill Konigsberg (Arthur A. Levine Books, $17.99)

"Carson is resigned to spending his summer in Billings, Montana, helping his mother to care for his ailing father. His life is changed forever, however, when he meets Aisha, a young girl who has just announced to her family that she is a lesbian. Carson is dealing with family issues, but his developing friendship with Aisha impacts his life in such a way that he is able to come to terms with his family. This heartwarming story demonstrates the power of love and determination and how true friendship can change the course of your life." —Kathy Taber, Kids Ink, Indianapolis, IN
