Other Indie Favorites

The Sunlit Night: A Novel, by Rebecca Dinerstein (Bloomsbury, $26) "The endless daylight of a Norwegian summer is the perfect backdrop for this warm and quirky debut filled with unusual characters and situations, a setting that is real yet somehow out of time, visual and precise writing, emotional warmth, and faith in the healing power of love. This tale of Frances and Yasha, their families, and their companions during a transformative summer in perpetual Arctic light is a perfect read for fans of Nicole Krauss' The History of Love or Bill Forsyth's classic movie, Local Hero." —Anmiryan Budner, Main Point Books, Bryn Mawr, PA

A Head Full of Ghosts: A Novel, by Paul Tremblay (William Morrow, $25) "This is the kind of scary novel that has more in mind than just the scares. When a family believes their eldest daughter is possessed, they allow a reality TV show to air a program detailing their trauma. But is Marjorie actually possessed? Could she be seeking attention or actually be developing schizophrenia? The answers aren't easy, even when Marjorie's younger sister is an adult looking back on the experience of watching her older sibling fall apart and attempting to make sense of what happened through the tropes of horror films and gothic literature. A spooky story, but with a tragic, heart-felt difference." —Bill Carl, The Booksellers on Fountain Square, Cincinnati, OH
