Other Indie Favorites

Fishbowl: A Novel, by Bradley Somer (St. Martin's Press, $24.99) "Sommer uses the unusual device of a goldfish plunging off of a high-rise balcony to tie together the disparate stories of the building's inhabitants. As our hero, Ian, plummets past floor after floor, he glimpses the lives of the residents—witnessing birth, heartbreak, new love, and all of the pathos and wonder that comprise human existence. Although Ian has only a goldfish's seconds-long capacity for memory, readers will find themselves returning to the essential truths of Sommer's characters again and again." —Jill Miner, Saturn Booksellers, Gaylord, MI

Barefoot to Avalon: A Brother's Story, by David Payne (Atlantic Monthly Press, $26) "This memoir is the most courageous book I have ever read. The author takes readers with him as he endeavors to make sense of his relationships with his parents and siblings, mental illness, personal shortcomings, and the journey to becoming a writer. The book leaves readers amazed at how much pain the heart can hold and still emerge peaceful, whole, and full of hope. Payne holds nothing back, and his depictions of events are real and full of all that makes us human, both the good and the bad." —Sharon Wheeler, Purple Crow Books, Hillsborough, NC
