The Blackthorn Key, by Kevin Sands (Aladdin Books, $17.99) "Christopher Rowe is an apothecary's apprentice. Master Apothecary Benedict Blackthorn is kind, caring, and a more generous master than Christopher ever dared dream for. When Benedict becomes another casualty in what appears to be a series of murders of apothecaries, Christopher sets out to unravel the clues his master left behind. Filled with the perfect blend of adventure, humor, puzzles and ciphers, the occasional alchemical explosion, and an enormous amount of heart, The Blackthorn Key is the best kind of middle-grade read and a truly special book." —Hana Boxberger, Village Books, Bellingham, WA

Another Indie Favorite for Teen Readers
Hello, Goodbye, and Everything in Between, by Jennifer E. Smith (Poppy, $18) "With her smart and realistic dialogue, Smith paints an emotionally charged and convincing portrait of the last day before departing for college. The joy of anticipation and the heartache of leaving behind friends and memories make for a touching backdrop to the story of Clare and Aidan. They take a roller coaster ride of an evening to figure out once and for all if they should try for a long-distance relationship or break up to fully experience everything college has to offer. Witty, tender, and often hilarious." —Ashley Despain, Green Apple Books, San Francisco, CA
