Another Indie Favorite for Ages 9 to 12
The Doldrums, by Nicholas Gannon (Greenwillow Books, $17.99) "Archer Benjamin Helmsley yearns for adventure. After all, his grandparents are famous for their worldly expeditions and Archer knows that 'being a Helmsley means something.' Archer's mother has different plans for him and keeps him confined to their house, but Archer has his creatures, his books, and his imagination, and is very skilled at escaping his mother's watch. Archer plans his own expedition to find his lost grandparents and convinces his friends to join him in some rollicking adventures. Archer's antics and Gannon's fantastic illustrations enhance the amusement in this amazing debut." —Arna Lewis, Buttonwood Books & Toys, Cohasset, MA

Another Indie Favorite for Teen Readers
Dumplin', by Julie Murphy (Balzer + Bray, $17.99) "Willowdean Davis is fat. And you can either back her up or back off. She is self-confident, fearless, funny, and comfortable in her own skin. Life in Clover City, Texas, has been just fine. She's got her best friend, Ellen, and she survives the Miss Blue Bonnet Clover City pageant each year. Willowdean's mother is a former Miss Blue Bonnet and chairs the pageant. It's only when she meets Bo, a cute co-worker who seems to like her as much as she likes him, that she begins to doubt herself. To find her self-confidence again, Willowdean enters the pageant to prove that she deserves the spotlight as much as anyone else. Murphy tells Willowdean's story with wit, sass, and kindness." —Cathy Berner, Blue Willow Bookshop, Houston, TX
