Other Indie Favorites

The Gun, by Fuminori Nakamura, Allison Markin Powell (Trans.) (Soho Crime, $25.95) "Alienation and obsession are dissected in this unsettling, spare novel. Nishikawa, a listless college student, happens upon a dead man during a nighttime walk. He inexplicably picks up the pistol lying by the body and brings it to his apartment. From this precipitous moment, the weapon becomes an obsession. Nishikawa finds his tedious reality taking on new meaning through the possibilities of an object that was designed to kill, and yet he must conceal his fetish from his classmates, lovers, and—most importantly—the police, who suspect that he has the gun. This award-winning noir novel, is an unflinching, dark story of one man's expanding consciousness—and threat." —Cindy Pauldine, the river's end bookstore, Oswego, NY

The Children's Home: A Novel, by Charles Lambert (Scribner, $24) "Tragically disfigured and reclusive, Morgan lives in a secluded country estate with only his housekeeper, Engel, to keep him company—until the children start to arrive. The first, an infant named Moira, is left in a basket on the doorstep; others soon follow, including the oddly precocious David—the eldest at five years old. But what does the children's enigmatic presence portend for Morgan and the world in which he lives? Through lyrical prose, Lambert creates an absorbing and dream-like narrative that recalls both the pastoral gothic of Shirley Jackson and the dystopic vision of John Wyndham." —Dan Doody, University Book Store, Seattle, WA
