Another Indie Favorite

West of Sunset: A Novel, by Stewart O'Nan (Penguin Books, $16) "This novel begins after F. Scott Fitzgerald and his wife, Zelda, have streaked across the Jazz Age sky like bright, shiny shooting stars. Scott is in Hollywood working as a script doctor and shakily holding on to sobriety; Zelda is in a mental hospital clinging to sanity just as tenuously. Unaccustomed to the workaday world, Scott struggles to prove his worth in Hollywood by showing up to work on time, paying his bills, and living a life of quiet desperation. Gone are the days of wine and roses; Scott must now learn to live as if there is a tomorrow. O'Nan offers a subtle portrait of an American icon as an ordinary man attempting to redefine himself after nearly losing it all." —Kerry Spaulding, University Book Store, Mill Creek, WA
