Other Indie Favorites

I'm Thinking of Ending Things: A Novel, by Iain Reid (Gallery/Scout Press, $22.95) "With his debut novel, Reid sets an extremely high bar for all future psychological thrillers. The entire story takes place in little over 24 hours as Jake and his girlfriend travel to meet and have dinner with his parents. In the narration by the unnamed girlfriend, something unsettling surfaces early and builds with the passage of every page. Readers will become riveted, reading faster and faster as the 'unsettling' becomes frightening, and then terrifying. Recommended for all who enjoy a good mind-twisting scare!" —Nancy Simpson-Brice, The Book Vault, Oskaloosa, IA

My Best Friend's Exorcism: A Novel, by Grady Hendrix (Quirk Books, $19.99) "Abby and Gretchen are the best of friends. They have navigated through all the adolescent pros and cons that came with growing up in the late '80s: zits, big hair, getting the nod from senior class heartthrob Tommy Cox, and—demonic possession? Written in Hendrix's unique, darkly comedic, and slightly twisted voice, My Best Friend's Exorcism is the quirky and satiating page-turner that fans of Horrorstor have been salivating for." —Angelo Santini, McLean & Eakin Booksellers, Petoskey, MI

Another Indie Favorite

The Insides: A Novel, by Jeremy P. Bushnell (Melville House, $16.95) "With wildly inventive ideas, compelling suspense, and surprising emotional depth, The Insides captured my attention and imagination right from the start. Bushnell is a playful and adventurous writer, coloring outside the lines of genre, breaking the real world open and building his own between the cracks. In a feat of literary street magic, he blends the ordinary and the surreal together into a harmony that feels perfectly right and true even as it disorients the senses. The result is a quirky paradox of a novel: fierce yet tender, lighthearted yet severe, weird yet natural!" —Jason Foose, Changing Hands Bookstore, Tempe, AZ

For Ages 9 to 12: Revisit & Rediscover

The Emerald Atlas, by John Stephens (Yearling, $7.99) Originally published in 2011

"This first book in a fantasy trilogy has it all: abandoned children, missing parents, mysterious new worlds, time travel, and an enchanted atlas that may hold some answers. Three ordinary kids try to sort things out, find the truth about their parents, and get back home, but certain forces they encounter keep trying to steal the atlas from them. Full of action and drama, very likable characters, some droll dwarves, an elegant witch, and a dose of humor, this is a book that middle-grade fantasy readers can get lost in. They will be begging for the sequels!" —Carol Moyer, Quail Ridge Books & Music, Raleigh, NC

For Teen Readers

Ruined, by Amy Timtera (HarperTeen, $17.99)

"After her parents, the king and queen of Ruina, are murdered and her sister kidnapped, Emelina Flores embarks on a clever—yet dangerous—plan to infiltrate the enemy kingdom of Lera and get her revenge. She kills Crown Prince Casimir's fiancée and assumes her identity so that she can get close enough to murder him and his family. But what if Em and Cas fall in love? With its perilous action, romance, magic, rivalry, and deceit, Ruined is a great choice for fans of epic fantasy." —Alyssa Raymond, Boulder Book Store, Boulder, CO

For Ages 4 to 8: Revisit & Rediscover

The Empty Pot, by Demi (Square Fish, $7.99)
Originally published in 1990

"How will the emperor of China choose his successor? He devises a contest, then drives through his empire handing out seeds to all of the children. Little Ping, son of the emperor's gardener, faithfully plants and waters his seed, but nothing grows. When the day comes to share their plants, Ping is ashamed of his empty pot but bravely presents it with unexpected results. Told with a light hand and gorgeous illustrations, this is a lovely, timeless story celebrating persistence, courage, honesty, and integrity." —Elizabeth Bluemle, The Flying Pig Bookstore, Shelburne, VT
