For Ages 9 to 12: Revisit & Rediscover

The Emerald Atlas, by John Stephens (Yearling, $7.99) Originally published in 2011

"This first book in a fantasy trilogy has it all: abandoned children, missing parents, mysterious new worlds, time travel, and an enchanted atlas that may hold some answers. Three ordinary kids try to sort things out, find the truth about their parents, and get back home, but certain forces they encounter keep trying to steal the atlas from them. Full of action and drama, very likable characters, some droll dwarves, an elegant witch, and a dose of humor, this is a book that middle-grade fantasy readers can get lost in. They will be begging for the sequels!" —Carol Moyer, Quail Ridge Books & Music, Raleigh, NC

For Teen Readers

Ruined, by Amy Timtera (HarperTeen, $17.99)

"After her parents, the king and queen of Ruina, are murdered and her sister kidnapped, Emelina Flores embarks on a clever—yet dangerous—plan to infiltrate the enemy kingdom of Lera and get her revenge. She kills Crown Prince Casimir's fiancée and assumes her identity so that she can get close enough to murder him and his family. But what if Em and Cas fall in love? With its perilous action, romance, magic, rivalry, and deceit, Ruined is a great choice for fans of epic fantasy." —Alyssa Raymond, Boulder Book Store, Boulder, CO
