Other Indie Favorites

Reputations: A Novel, by Juan Gabriel Vásquez (Riverhead, $25) "With a direct and forceful narrative and a translation as smooth and peaceful as the quiet narrator himself, this book takes the reader on a days-long search for the past and the present in modern day Bogotá. A prominent political cartoonist is shaken when a forgotten uncertainty from the past resurfaces. This psychological study of the concept that what we believe makes us who we are is a masterpiece!" —Nicole Magistro, The Bookworm of Edwards, Edwards, CO

Mercury: A Novel, by Margot Livesey (Harper, $26.99) "This riveting psychological novel delves into the lives of Donald and Vivian, a married couple whose stability is threatened and ultimately undermined when Vivian, whose former life as an aspiring equestrian was cut short, meets Mercury, a magnificent horse with a tragic history. What unfolds may seem like destiny to Vivian, but to Donald, a staid and deliberate ophthalmologist still mourning the death of his beloved father, it tests everything he's ever known, including his faculty for navigating the world. A truly remarkable study of human nature and the blind spots that hinder us all." —Mary Cotton, Newtonville Books, Newton, MA
