For Ages 9 to 12

The Best Man, by Richard Peck (Dial Books for Young Readers, $16.99) "This is a timely coming-of-age tale filled with appealing characters, especially Archer, the narrator. Bookended by two weddings, The Best Man follows Archer from first grade through sixth. Readers encounter quirky classmates, quirkier teachers, and some sobering incidents with bullies, along with friendships and much goodness. Mostly, this is a book about family and the ways in which family makes us who we are. The Best Man is a triumph for Peck and a generous and important gift to readers." —Christopher Rose, The Spirit of '76 Bookstore, Marblehead, MA

For Teen Readers

The Forgetting, by Sharon Cameron (Scholastic Press, $18.99) "Every 12 years, all of the people in Canaan lose their memories and must recreate them from journals that are tied to them with string. Nadia is the only one who remembers and the only one who knows that the books everyone relies on are not really the truth. Filled with complex ideas and fascinating questions about how memories create who we are, The Forgetting is a story to treasure." —Laura Delaney, Rediscovered Books, Boise, ID
