Another Indie Favorite

The Life-Writer, by David Constantine (Biblioasis, $14.95) "Occasionally tragic and always tender, Constantine's novel is a moving exploration of the ways in which we relate to the people we love. After the death of her husband, Katrin—a literary biographer who has dedicated her career to recording the lives of obscure and largely unsuccessful writers—finds herself drawn to a new project: telling the story of the early life and first love of the man she would later marry. A remarkable story of grief, rediscovery, and reconciliation." —Sam Kaas, Third Place Books, Lake Forest Park, WA
