The Bone Sparrow, by Zana Fraillon (Disney-Hyperion, $16.99) "Subhi is a refugee born in a camp in Australia. He lives for stories of his dad, who is not with him in the camp, where he has known only fences, mushy meals, guards, and hardship. One day a girl named Jimmie makes an appearance inside the fence. She has lost her mother and wants someone to read her mother's diary to her. The two form a friendship, with Jimmie bringing food and love to Subhi as he creates a picture of her mother for her. The treatment of the refugees is a big part of this novel—a universal story definitely pertinent to our times." —Paula Primavera, Covered Treasures Bookstore, Monument, CO

For Teen Readers

My Sister Rosa, by Justine Larbalestier (Soho Teen, $18.99) "Che's life revolves around the whims of his little sister, Rosa. Even though she seems like a beautiful and charming 10-year-old, Che knows she has a complete disregard for rules, is devoid of empathy, and has no fear of the consequences. She scares Che and he can't convince his parents to see what he sees in his 'psychopathic' sister. When the family's move to New York City begins to go horribly wrong but also very right for Che, he begins to discover more about his family and himself than he may be prepared to deal with. With a unique cast of characters and carefully plotted writing, My Sister Rosa is a fascinating thriller!" —Jessica Perez, University Book Store, Seattle, WA
