For Ages 9 to 12

If the Magic Fits, by Susan Maupin Schmid (Random House Books for Young Readers, $16.99) "Darling Dimple, an 11-year-old orphan, works in the castle as an Under-Scrubber, scrubbing pots and pans by lantern light in the sub-basement, daydreaming and spinning adventure stories to Gillian, the Under-Dryer, and trying to stay in the good graces of the Head Scrubber, called the Supreme Scrubstress behind her back. Little does Darling know that the castle she calls home is enchanted and built by dragons and that she is about to have the most remarkable adventure courtesy of a closet full of magical dresses. This first volume in a new series will speak to every girl's fairy tale dreams!" —Rebecca Mattis, Phoenix Books, Essex, VT

For Teen Readers

Of Fire and Stars, by Audrey Coulthurst, Jordan Saia (Illus.) (Balzer + Bray, $17.99) "This book has it all: political intrigue, mysterious assassinations, characters bursting with personality, and queer teens in love. It is an excellent read with great pacing, fascinating world-building, and social tensions that have nothing to do with queer love and everything to do with secret magical gifts and duty to one's kingdom over that of one's heart. Wonderful for readers of Malinda Lo and Kristin Cashore." —Gretchen Treu, A Room of One's Own, Madison, WI
