For Ages 9 to 12

NewsPrints, by Ru Xu (Graphix, $12.99) "When newsboy Blue—who is really a girl—stumbles into an apprenticeship with a zany inventor and meets a boy named Crow, she doesn't expect to be dragged into a conspiracy involving her newspaper, her country's military, and dangerous weaponry. But Blue doesn't mind adventure and she's ready to protect her new friend at any cost. Ru Xu's inventive steampunk world is the perfect backdrop for a story about choosing: choosing identity, choosing friends, and choosing to fight and protect your choices. Heartfelt and beautifully illustrated."
—Nicole Brinkley, Oblong Books & Music, Millerton, NY

For Teen Readers

History Is All You Left Me, by Adam Silvera (Soho Teen, $18.99) "When Theo is ripped from Griffin's life in a freak accident, the emptiness left behind sends Griffin into a downward emotional spiral. Griffin always believed that even though they broke up when Theo left for college, they would someday end up together. How can you exist when your entire world washes away beneath you? Silvera's book is an unapologetically honest and heart-wrenchingly beautiful story about first love and loss and the cathartic process of diving headfirst into one's grief to come out a better person on the other side. An absolutely stunning novel."
—Angelo Santini, McLean & Eakin Booksellers, Petoskey, MI
