Introduce

For Ages 9 to 12

Last Day on Mars, by Kevin Emerson (Walden Pond Press, $16.99) "Liam and Phoebe must leave the only home they have ever known, but enemy forces turn their final day on Mars into an adventure that may lead to the end of human civilization. Both avid and reluctant readers will flock to this ambitious new saga, which will have them turning pages at breakneck speed and gasping with awe. If you like your science fiction to be based on facts, crafted around well-developed characters, and dished out with stunning excitement, get your hands on a copy of Last Day on Mars. Kevin Emerson's new middle-grade series is an action-packed tour de force that might just overload your brain circuits." —Pamela Klinger-Horn, Excelsior Bay Books, Excelsior, MN

For Teen Readers

The Last of August, by Brittany Cavallaro (Katherine Tegen Books, $17.99) "Dark, devious, and delightful! Teenage angst has never led to such fun as when Jamie Watson follows Charlotte Holmes down the rabbit hole once more in this exciting sequel to A Study in Charlotte. Between international travel, art forgery, minions, and the most awkward family gathering imaginable, this book is full of adventure, mystery, and great Sherlockian deductions. Readers also get a peek into the Moriarty family, plus there's romance, false identities, and poison. What more could a Sherlock Holmes fan ask for?" —Kate Towery, The Fountain Bookstore, Richmond, VA
