For Ages 9 to 12

Grand Canyon, by Jason Chin (Roaring Brook Press, $19.99) "Jason Chin is amazing, both as an artist and author. Who doesn't want to journey to the Grand Canyon in the pages of a book? I'm so excited about sharing this book with kids. I love the way the technical illustrations play off the larger picture book illustrations in the story. It's gorgeous and educational, as are all of Chin's books." —Jenny Lyons, The Vermont Book Shop, Middlebury, VT

For Teen Readers

You're Welcome, Universe, by Whitney Gardner (Knopf Books for Young Readers, $17.99) "When Julia covers up derogatory graffiti about her best friend with her own art—and then her best friend outs Julia to save herself—Julia is expelled from her deaf school and mainstreamed. With her biggest meaningful relationship destroyed by betrayal and her mothers both watching her more closely due to her act of 'vandalism,' Julia just wants to keep her head down in public school and get out so she can recapture the rush of putting her art out in the world. You're Welcome, Universe really emphasizes the power and complexity of female friendships; the window that it opens into deaf culture is an added bonus!" —Ann Childs, Odyssey Bookshop, South Hadley, MA
