For Ages 9 to 12

The Someday Suitcase, by Corey Ann Haydu

(Katherine Tegen Books, $16.99) "There is nothing like a best friend, and Clover knows that Danny will always be hers. Now in fifth grade, Clover is passionate about science, facts, and compiling evidence. When Danny becomes gravely ill and the doctors can't give him a diagnosis, Clover makes Danny her project for the science fair and keeps a notebook about Danny's symptoms to assist the doctors in any way she can. This wistful novel full of the love of a deep friendship will make you wish that Clover and Danny were your friends. I enjoyed their journey so much!" —Joanne Doggart, Where the Sidewalk Ends, Chatham, MA

For Teen Readers

Midnight at the Electric, by Jodi Lynn Anderson

(HarperTeen, $17.99) "Three young women who will never meet are linked by their indomitable spirit and their desire for a better future. Adri is one of a chosen few to colonize Mars in 2065 after climate change has irreversibly damaged Earth. Catherine's family farms in Oklahoma during the Dust Bowl and faces grim choices to survive. Lenore, an Englishwoman traumatized in World War I, decides to leave for America. All three must start their lives anew and recreate themselves in ways they can barely imagine. Readers of all ages will be surprised by their connection and moved by the sincerity of their hope." —Cindy Pauldine, the river's end bookstore, Oswego, NY
