Wade in the Water: Poems, by Tracy K. Smith (Graywolf Press, $24) "In Wade in the Water, Smith makes herself into a medium through which the voices of other (forgotten) people can become poetry. 'I Will Tell You the Truth About This...' is a haunting and beautiful poem written using the letters and statements of African-Americans who enlisted as soldiers in the Civil War. Smith is simultaneously the declarer and the creator of a space wherein others may be given room to declare. It is this balancing act that brings out the heart and beauty of Wade in the Water. The impersonal is made intimate, the world is made individual, and Smith guides us with true poetic sense. Wade in the Water is a necessary, beautiful book!" —Eli Sovich, Magers & Quinn Booksellers, Minneapolis, MN

The Italian Party: A Novel, by Christina Lynch (St. Martin's Press, $25.99) "Chris Pavone's The Expats meets Amor Towles' A Gentleman in Moscow in this delightful novel. Scottie and Michael Messina are newlyweds when they arrive in Italy in April of 1956, where Michael is supposed to head up a new division of Ford. But Michael and Scottie harbor deep secrets from each other, among them Michael's true occupation as a spy for the American government. Lynch evokes the period of the 1950s—Betty Crocker, Wonder Bread, and an entrenched distrust of Communism—in a story that froths with gossip and is sweetened by intrigue, stirred with the complex history of Italian and American relations. Delicious and positively drinkable." —Becky Petterson, Bloomsbury Books, Ashland, OR
