Invitation to a Bonfire: A Novel, by Adrienne Celt (Bloomsbury Publishing, $26) “Adrienne Celt’s Invitation to a Bonfire is a propulsive literary thriller masterfully constructed and written with an extraordinary, raw urgency that will leave readers breathless. Inspired by the marriage of Vladimir and Vera Nabokov, Celt explores the love and ambition of two strong-willed women who compete for the passions and artistic control of a literary icon. The novel’s characters are original and vividly drawn, with all the complexity and contradictions of their emotions and intensions fully realized. This is a story that you will not be able to put down, and certainly one of the most memorable and satisfying reads of the year.” —Lori Feathers, Interabang Books, Dallas, TX

Southernmost: A Novel, by Silas House (Algonquin Books, $26.95) “Asher, a rural evangelical preacher in Tennessee, welcomes two gay men into his congregation after a flood washes away most of his town. His change of heart results in him being ousted from his church and losing custody of his son in the midst of an ugly divorce. Unable to stand the separation from his boy, he steals him away and flees to Key West in search of his estranged brother. Living on the run, Asher must learn how to make peace with the past as he discovers a new way of living and thinking. Silas House’s writing is captivating and honest and proves how different ways of life can coexist and even combine to create something cohesive and meaningful.” —Carl Kranz, The Fountain Bookstore, Richmond, VA
