Other Indie Favorites

Convenience Store Woman: A Novel, by Sayaka Murata, Ginny Tapley Takemori (Trans.) (Grove Press, $20) “Keiko Furukura has worked at her local convenience store for 18 years, every day ensuring the shelves are tidy, the hot food bar is stocked, and the featured items are adequately displayed. She greets every customer with a cheerful ‘irasshaimase!’ and no one notices that she’s never fit in anywhere else. Murata draws lush descriptions out of simple, spare prose, and every page crackles with the life she’s created. Because of the humor, the wit, the almost unbearable loveliness of it all, Convenience Store Woman, a small book about a quiet life, makes an enormous impact on the reader.” —Lauren Peugh, Powell’s Books, Portland, OR

Well, That Escalated Quickly: Memoirs and Mistakes of an Accidental Activist, by Franchesca Ramsey (Grand Central Publishing, $27) “Franchesca Ramsey hadn’t planned to be an activist, but that was before her insightful and seriously funny YouTube video ‘Sh*t White Girls Say...to Black Girls’ was viewed more than 12 million times. She was inundated with media requests along with both fan and hate mail. After some missteps, she decided to use her voice and her talent to fight injustice. Determined to provide ways for us to listen to each other, Ramsey has written an insightful book that brings us laughter as well as tools for understanding our differences and our shared humanity.” —Elaine Petrocelli, Book Passage, Corte Madera, CA
