Other Indie Favorites

Miss Kopp Just Won't Quit: A Kopp Sisters Novel, by Amy Stewart (Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, $26) "I have enjoyed Amy Stewart's Miss Kopp adventures since the beginning, and this fourth novel is just as good as the first. With a feminist edge and true historical details, Amy Stewart has brought Constance Kopp to life in such a well-developed and interesting manner; not only are the characters exemplary, but the story is grabbing and exciting as well. I hope this is not the end of Constance and her sisters, because WWI is on the brink and I think they would be the perfect small-town heroines for the fight." —Lauren Nopenz Fairley, Curious Iguana, Frederick, MD

One Person, No Vote: How Voter Suppression Is Destroying Our Democracy, by Carol Anderson (Bloomsbury Publishing, $27) "Far from an isolated event, the 2016 election was the culmination of generations of efforts to prevent communities of color from taking part in elections and having the full weight of their votes counted. One Person, No Vote comes at a time when we need every piece of knowledge available to turn the tide of voter suppression and reclaim our democracy. Through exhaustive research deconstructing and explaining decades of policy, Carol Anderson provides a clear look at how laws were bent through the slow degradation of democracy and how circumstances can be righted once more." —Amanda Ibarra, Flyleaf Books, Chapel Hill, NC
