For Ages 9 to 12

The House With Chicken Legs, by Sophie Anderson (Scholastic Press, $16.99) "Twelve-year-old Marinka is not like most girls. She has a pet jackdaw, a founding lamb, a yaga for a grandmother, and a house that routinely walks, runs, or canters to an entirely new location without consulting its occupants. What Marinka THINKS she wants most is to just be a normal girl with normal friends and the chance to determine her own future. What Marinka REALLY wants is indeed something very, very different. A bit of folk tale, a dose of adventure, and a lot of quirky humor tossed in, The House With Chicken Legs takes readers on a ride they will not soon forget." —Angie Tally, The Country Bookshop, Southern Pines, NC

For Teen Readers

A Winter's Promise: Book One of the Mirror Visitor Quartet by Christelle Dabos, Hildegard Serle (Trans.) (Europa Editions, $19.95) "A Winter's Promise is a stellar addition to the fantasy genre booksellers can recommend to adults and teens alike. The worldbuilding is incredible and Ophelia is a heroine you can immediately relate to: clever, resourceful, and constantly underestimated. Dabos delights and thrills readers as Ophelia finds herself caught in the middle of political intrigue and deadly secrets with nothing but her wits to keep her alive. As the tension builds and mysteries are revealed, it's impossible to put the book down." —Katerina Argyres, Bookshop West Portal, San Francisco, CA
