For Ages 9 to 12

Saving Winslow, by Sharon Creech (HarperCollins, $16.99) "Louie loves animals, but just doesn't seem to have the knack for taking care of them—too many carnival animals have not survived his loving care. So when his father brings home a newborn miniature donkey, Louie's parents tell him not to get his hopes up that the little guy will survive the night, let alone thrive. Louie's determination that Winslow will be okay, the new friendships he makes, and his belief that one person can make a difference make for a wonderful story." —Debbie Buck, Vintage Books, Vancouver, WA

For Teen Readers

Damsel, by Elana K. Arnold (Balzer + Bray, $17.99) "Timely, dark, and compelling, Damsel is an intense feminist read, an anti-fairy tale, and definitely a crossover adult title. Arnold's writing is impeccable, her voice powerful, her style sly and captivating. She turns the damsel-in-distress trope inside out here with a tale that deals creatively and unflinchingly with violence and sexual assault and more, reminiscent of such other powerful titles as Margo Lanagan's Tender Morsels. One of my favorite titles of the season." —Joy Preble, Brazos Bookstore, Houston, TX
