Other Indie Favorites

Rules for Visiting: A Novel, by Jessica Francis Kane (Penguin Press, $26) "A skillful writer can show how things that seem unrelated are actually intertwined. In this way, Kane quietly reminds us that friendships and plants may be deeply rooted but need tending to bloom completely, that words matter, that going back to their roots may change how we think about what we say, and that a quiet life can be a full one. This gentle book grows on you (the puns just keep coming), but it is a refreshing change from the stresses of our digital age or the angst of so many recent books about contemporary life. Entertaining and erudite, I highly recommend this book." —Ann Carlson, Waterfront Books, Georgetown, SC

Rough Magic: Riding the World's Loneliest Horse Race, by Lara Prior-Palmer (Catapult, $25) "Lara Prior-Palmer's journey in the Mongol Derby is one of excitement, pain, and profound inner dialogue. There was not a moment in this fast-paced memoir where my attention wavered. Prior-Palmer weaves a coming-of-age tale with expert grace and worldly knowledge alongside an intensely riveting competition against herself and the land. Rough Magic is a fantastically written and introspective memoir worthy of great praise." —Travis McGuire, Skylark Bookshop, Columbia, MO
