Other Indie Favorites

Oona Out of Order: A Novel, by Margarita Montimore (Flatiron Books, $26.99) “Oona Lockhart has been cursed (or blessed) with a magical wrinkle in time that has her leaping forward and back through the years. Inside she is aging chronologically, but on the outside, Oona is sometimes 51, 30, or 26 years old. A life lived out of order, however, can be just as valid as a life lived forward. Surprising, bittersweet, and filled with love, Oona discovers both the wisdom of age and the spontaneity of youth. Don’t miss out on what is sure to be the most enchanted reading experience of 2020.” —Pamela Klinger-Horn, Excelsior Bay Books, Excelsior, MN

The Girl With the Louding Voice: A Novel, by Abi Daré (Dutton, $26) “This year is overflowing with phenomenal debuts—including this one from Abi Daré. It tells the story of Adunni, a young girl in Nigeria whose dreams and ambition focus in on one thing: education. In a city where girls like her are looked down upon and considered unworthy, she comes to find that change can begin with even the smallest of voices. This story is the kind that makes you itch: you’ll ache for Adunni, bristle at the people who treat her so unjustly, and yearn for her to succeed. This is a stunning, important, and fascinating first novel.” —Lindsay Howard, Lark and Owl Booksellers, Georgetown, TX

Another Indie Favorite

The Bird King: A Novel, by G. Willow Wilson (Grove Press, $16) “Fatima is a concubine of the sultan of the last emirate in the Iberian Peninsula to submit to the Spanish Inquisition. When her dearest friend, Hassan, a mapmaker who can map places he has never seen (and that do not always exist), is singled out by the Inquisition, she flees with him and a jinn, following the trail of the elusive and mythical Bird King, who may or may not be able to grant them sanctuary. Wilson's latest novel is rich with the historical detail, lush description, and fantastical elements that we have come to know and love from her. A story of resistance, freedom, seeking, and strength.” —Anna Eklund, University Book Store, Seattle, WA

A Home for Goddesses and Dogs, by Leslie Connor (Katherine Tegen Books, $16.99) “This sweet and heartwarming book is the perfect gift for anyone who’s ever lost something—or someone—precious. While the plot is simple, the characters and the timeless message of healing more than make up for it. There’s also a positive representation of a same-sex couple and elements of the famous story Marley & Me sprinkled throughout. But don’t worry; the ending isn’t nearly as devastating.” —Jason Mills, The Book Bungalow, St. George, UT

For Teen Readers

Foul Is Fair, by Hannah Capin (Wednesday Books, $18.99) “Featuring a razor-sharp take on Lady Macbeth, this book is gripping. In the rise of antihero narratives in pop culture, this deserves to be up there with some of our favorites. It’s cathartic to see karma come around in the form of our protagonist, Jade. For Shakespeare fans, all of the nods to the original play are clever. Hannah Capin gets the balance just right between the source material and her own unique vision. As a tale of revenge, Foul Is Fair soars. No matter what happens in the book, we are always rooting for the girls.” —Sofia Silva Wright, Phoenix Books, Burlington, VT

The Bear Must Go On, by Dev Petty, Brandon Todd (Illus.) (Philomel Books, $17.99) “The Bear Must Go On took me straight back to lazy summer days planning performances with my friends. Just like the squirrels in this book, we loved planning all the details—including hand-drawn tickets—but what we lacked was a big-spirited bear to create a stellar show for us! This story is great for children entering the age of school plays and choir concerts, and will make for a very fun, creative story time!” —Beth Seufer Buss, Bookmarks, Winston-Salem, NC
