A Home for Goddesses and Dogs, by Leslie Connor (Katherine Tegen Books, $16.99) “This sweet and heartwarming book is the perfect gift for anyone who’s ever lost something—or someone—precious. While the plot is simple, the characters and the timeless message of healing more than make up for it. There’s also a positive representation of a same-sex couple and elements of the famous story Marley & Me sprinkled throughout. But don’t worry, the ending isn’t nearly as devastating.” —Jason Mills, The Book Bungalow, St. George, UT

For Teen Readers

Foul Is Fair, by Hannah Capin (Wednesday Books, $18.99) “Featuring a razor-sharp take on Lady Macbeth, this book is gripping. In the rise of antihero narratives in pop culture, this deserves to be up there with some of our favorites. It’s cathartic to see karma come around in the form of our protagonist, Jade. For Shakespeare fans, all of the nods to the original play are clever. Hannah Capin gets the balance just right between the source material and her own unique vision. As a tale of revenge, Foul Is Fair soars. No matter what happens in the book, we are always rooting for the girls.” —Sofia Silva Wright, Phoenix Books, Burlington, VT
