Pretty Things: A Novel, by Janelle Brown
(Random House, $28) “Nina Ross is a grifter, just like her mom. She didn’t have a lot growing up, and they were always on the move. Vanessa, heiress of a family fortune, is a famous Instagram influencer. Everyone loves her, but her smile hides a past filled with tragedy. Nina and Vanessa’s lives become intertwined as part of a long con. Pretty Things is excellently written, with an intricate plot full of twists. I loved absolutely everything about this book. I highly recommend it.” —Rebecca Minnock, Murder by the Book, Houston, TX

Cat Person and Other Stories, by Kristen Roupenian (Gallery/Scout Press, $16) “I was completely enthralled with Kristen Roupenian’s ‘Cat Person’ story in the New Yorker and couldn’t wait to pick up her collection. Like ‘Cat Person,’ each story pushes boundaries, holding a magnifying glass up to social norms and what our society accepts. The writing is fantastic, and the cadence of each story is strikingly unique. This book will delight fans of Roupenian’s viral story and will start many more conversations in its wake.” —Courtney Flynn, Trident Booksellers & Café, Boston, MA

A Wish in the Dark, by Christina Soontornvat
   (Candlewick, $17.99) “In a world where light is a commodity, Pong has grown up seeking a way out of the darkness. A desperate escape from the prison where he was born leads him to a life on the run, and he will need the help of old friends, new enemies, a generous monk, and all the inner strength he can muster to find his way home. This incandescent novel will fulfill the wishes of many a middle-grade reader seeking something new and wonderful.” —Melissa Posten, The Novel Neighbor, Webster Groves, MO

For Teen Readers
The Silence of Bones, by June Hur (Feiwel & Friends, $17.99) “I was struck by the depth of this gripping story. Seol’s quest for answers about her past is a fascinating counterpoint to her investigation into a grisly murder. The meditative quality of the narration of this historical mystery felt perfectly suited to the Korean setting and the backdrop of political and religious struggles. Seol’s courage, curiosity, and dedication make her a character I can’t get enough of. Let’s hope this is the start of a series.” —Tegan Tigani, Queen Anne Book Company, Seattle, WA
