Other Indie Favorites

I’d Give Anything: A Novel, by Marisa de los Santos (William Morrow, $27.99)

“A beautifully written story of identity lost and found, friendship, the love of a mother for her child, and what happens when decades-old secrets are brought to light. Ginny is married with a teenage daughter when her husband’s scandal threatens to bring her world crashing down around her. Strong female relationships take the lead as Ginny strives to protect her daughter and reckons with her past. Highly recommend.”

—Jessica Nock, Main Street Books, Davidson, NC

Sea Wife: A Novel, by Amity Gaige (Knopf, $26.95)

“Wherever you go, your anxieties go with you—even (or especially) if you go live on a boat to sail the world with your spouse and small children. Nothing will ever be the same for Juliet, Michael, and their family after their harrowing year at sea, and no reader will be the same after reading this taut, brilliant novel. I can’t stop thinking about it.”

—Mary Laura Philpott, Parnassus Books, Nashville, TN

Another Indie Favorite

Reproduction: A Novel, by Ian Williams
(Europa Editions, $18) "Reproduction is a love story spanning three decades, from the early '80s to the 2000s, starting in Toronto, a city of vast differences in wealth and cultures. The unlikely couple (Edgar, a rich, idle German, and Felicia, a poor 19-year-old immigrant from the West Indies) meet and start an unconventional relationship, with lifelong consequences for them both. Don’t let the 550-page count fool you: The writing style is the opposite of weighty and dense—it is mischievous, funny, moving, and full of stunning revelations about how strangers become family. Simply breathtaking!" —Kelly Justice, Fountain Bookstore, Richmond, VA

For Ages 9 to 12

Tornado Brain, by Cat Patrick (G.P. Putnam’s Sons Books for Young Readers, $17.99): “A mutual friend goes missing and twin sisters Frankie, a young teen on the spectrum, and popular Tess try to solve the mystery. The loyalty of sisters, friendship, and acceptance all come into play in this well-written and engaging book.” —Marlene Craig, The Well-Read Moose, Coeur d’Alene, ID

For Teen Readers

Heartstopper: Volume 1, by Alice Oseman (Graphix, $24.99, Hardcover; $14.99, Paperback): “After being forced out of the closet last year, Charlie is ‘the gay kid’ at his boys’ school. The bullying has pretty much stopped, but now he has other problems—like his crush on his cute (straight) classmate Nick. Nick is a rugby star, and though he’s nice, he couldn’t possibly be interested in someone like Charlie, especially since Nick already has a crush on a girl... right? A sweet story about teen friendship and love that will melt your heart the same way Simon vs. the Homo Sapiens Agenda did.” —Melissa Oates, Fiction Addiction, Greenville, SC

Our Friend Hedgehog: The Story of Us, by Lauren Castillo (Knopf Books for Young Readers, $16.99) "In the gentle tradition of Winnie the Pooh, this book weaves together the adventures of several woodland creatures (and one human). Hedgehog leaves her cozy, comfy island to look for her beloved friend, who was blown away in a storm. Tense moments quickly pass due to Hedgehog’s perseverance and strength. A sweet beginning to a new series!"
