

Your Next  Great Read

The Art Thief: A True Story of Love, Crime, and a Dangerous Obsession

By Michael Finkel

"The Art Thief looks into the mind of one of the most successful art thieves in history. It's a terrific psychological study of a true aesthete, and a look into how he was found and how laws changed after him. A fascinating, compelling tale!"

—William Carl, An Unlikely Story, Plainville, MA

Your Next  Great Read

Ripe: A Novel

By Sarah Rose Etter

"Ripe is a delicious book – the Persephone myth retold amidst swirling anxieties in a Silicon Valley tech startup. Our lonely narrator is accompanied by a black hole. A literal one. Visceral and smart, Etter carefully chose every word."

—Skylar Miklus, Still North Books & Bar, Hanover, NH

Your Next  Great Read

The Quiet Tenant: A Novel

By Clémence Michallon

"A woman has been held hostage in a shed for five years, and could be killed by her captor at any moment. Michallon's outstanding debut will make you hold your breath as claustrophobia and unbearable tension set in."

—Melanie Fleishman, Center for Fiction Bookstore, Brooklyn, NY

Your Next  Great Read

Little Monsters: A Novel

By Adrienne Brodeur

"With inspiration from her memoir, Adrienne Brodeur knits a compelling novel of family secrets, complicated sibling relationships, and social commentary. The perfectly detailed Cape Cod setting makes this an ideal summer read."

—Rebekah Rine, Watermark Books & Café, Wichita, KS

Your Next  Great Read

The Rachel Incident: A Novel

By Caroline O'Donoghue

"A fun, quick read about a bookstore friendship that takes two lovable characters all the way to adulthood. I very much enjoyed the small-town, Irish setting and the relatable struggle for independence and identity. A great read!"

—Becky Vitas Schamis, Theodore's Books, Oyster Bay, NY

Your Next  Great Read

Do Tell: A Novel

By Lindsay Lynch

"This is a deeply moving and incredibly fun story of the golden age of Hollywood, where gossip can make or break you. This book is smartly written and captures a wealth of social issues in Hollywood that are as prevalent now as they were then."

—Blaes Green, The Book & Cover, Chattanooga, TN

Your Next  Great Read

Hello Stranger: A Novel

By Katherine Center

"Katherine Center has once again blown my mind with Hello Stranger. It's uplifting, yet serious. It's got heart, yet still manages to be funny. I have no doubt it'll be one of my top recommended reads this summer!"

—Preet Singh, Eagle Eye Book Shop, Decatur, GA

Your Next  Great Read

Forget Me Not

By Julie Soto

"Two years ago Ama, a wedding planner, and Elliot, a florist, broke each other's hearts. Now they're on an event that could alter their careers. Can love after a disaster really work? A smart and hilarious 'opposites attract' rom-com."

—Scott Lange, The Bookman, Grand Haven, MI

Your Next  Great Read

Lucky Red: A Novel

By Claudia Cravens

“Set in a late 1800s Dodge City, a young woman is caught up in other people’s expectations. Lucky Red is about carving your own way in a world that wants to keep you under its thumb. A thrilling western full of grit, passion, and whiskey!”

–Jen Steele, Boswell Book Company, Milwaukee, WI

Your Next  Great Read

Nineteen Claws and a Black Bird: Stories

By Agustina Bazterrica, Sarah Moses (Transl.)

“This was such a gripping read – bizarre, fascinating, and terrifying all at once. I only put it down to grapple with what I was reading. I enjoyed this so much, and can’t wait to read more from Agustina Bazterrica.”

–Daniel Jordan, Pearl’s Books, Fayetteville, AR

Your Next  Great Read

The Summer of Songbirds

By Kristy Woodson Harvey

“Three best friends are in the midst of life when their beloved summer camp faces closure due to severe financial hardships. This page-turning story is filled with friendship, humor, and romance – put this on your summer reading list!”

–Mary Patterson, The Little Bookshop, Midlothian, VA

Your Next  Great Read

Days at the Morisaki Bookshop: A Novel

By Satoshi Yagisawa, Eric Ozawa (Transl.)

“A charming book about the restorative powers of book communities and family. Takako’s uncle invites her to help run the family bookshop, where she makes new friends, learns how different love can look, and reconnects with family.”

–Holly Nikodem, Kew & Willow Books, Kew Gardens, NY

Your Next  Great Read

Business or Pleasure: A Novel

By Rachel Lynn Solomon

"I loved every minute of Business or Pleasure. From the con life, to obsessing over a supernatural tv show, to sex positivity, it's sure to please any reader on multiple levels from the brain right down to your toes."

—Terri LeBlanc, Swamp Fox Bookstore, Marion, IA

Your Next  Great Read

Zero Days: A Novel

By Ruth Ware

"Zero Days is an absolute nail biter. An innocent woman is accused of her husband's murder and has no choice but to go on the run. It's a new direction for Ruth Ware and it totally works. I was quite literally gripping the book the entire time."

—Samantha Ladwig, Imprint Bookstore, Port Townsend, WA

Your Next  Great Read

Banyan Moon: A Novel

By Thao Thai

"Banyan Moon is a remarkable debut that follows Vietnamese-American Ann, her mother, grandmother, and generations of women who came before. Thai peels open family secrets like an onion to reveal truth, healing, love and friendship."

—Patience Allan-Glick, Underground Books, Carrollton, GA

Your Next  Great Read

The Seven Year Slip: A Novel

By Ashley Poston

"This is a romance that is so much more than a romance. It's a story of pursuing your dreams, being yourself, and living while dealing with grief. The time traveling apartment is just a plus. Prepare to fall in love with Clementine and Iwan!"

—Addy Bowman, Wild Geese Bookshop, Franklin, IN

Your Next  Great Read

The Militia House: A Novel

By John Milas

"The Militia House ensnares the reader in its unsettling atmosphere. The commentary around the military industrial complex and PTSD is subtle, casting a critical eye that never fully dives into polemic. A wild, immersive ride."

—Wesley Minter, Third Place Books, Lake Forest Park, WA

Your Next  Great Read

Psyche and Eros: A Novel

By Luna McNamara

"A lovely tale of different forms of love. Female heroine, Psyche, is strong, sure of herself, and brave. Eros makes us question what makes life worth living and how love affects us. Together, it's a love story that will wrap you in its arms."

—Baylee Miller, Schuler Books, Grand Rapids, MI

Your Next  Great Read

The Librarianist: A Novel

By Patrick deWitt

"A thoughtful book about a quiet man leading a quiet life, filled with wonderful language and small nuances. Bob Comet endured loneliness and heartbreak, but found solace in his books and ultimately found friendship and community."

—Kathy Clemmons, Sundog Books, Santa Rosa Beach, FL

Your Next  Great Read

All-Night Pharmacy: A Novel

By Ruth Madievsky

"A spiraling look into a toxic sisterhood and an exploration of addiction, All-Night Pharmacy captivated me. The author deftly pulls the reader to root for the unnamed narrator as she tumbles in and out of addiction and relationships."

—Mallory Melton, BookPeople, Austin, TX

Your Next  Great Read

Mrs. S: A Novel

By K. Patrick

"Mrs. S is a delicious little seduction: a story of obsession, desire, and displacement; a hazy seaside heat mirage; a funhouse mirror version of Bergman's Persona and one of the most astute, beguiling books about want I've ever read."

—Camden Avery, The Booksmith, San Francisco, CA

Your Next  Great Read

The Housekeepers: A Novel

By Alex Hay

"It's Ocean's Eight meets Downton Abbey! The man of the household has died. His daughter plots her engagement as the 'downstairs' workers plot as well: clearing the house out from top to bottom. This novel is immensely satisfying. Enjoy!"

—Victoria Ford, Comma, a Bookshop, Minneapolis, MN

Your Next  Great Read

Rivermouth: A Chronicle of Language, Faith, and Migration

By Alejandra Oliva

"Rivermouth is an emotional, informative exploration of the American immigrant and asylum systems. Alejandra Oliva brings such insight to the 'immigration crisis' while never losing the humanity of the people who get caught in it all."

—Christine Bollow, Loyalty Bookstores, Washington, DC

Your Next  Great Read

Charlotte Illes Is Not a Detective: A Novel

By Katie Siegel

"Charlotte Illes Is Not a Detective takes all the nostalgia of our favorite kid detectives and wonders: what happens when they grow up? This lighthearted read blends the elements of a great mystery with a hilarious coming-of-age story."

—John McDougall, Murder By the Book, Houston, TX

Your Next  Great Read

The Apartment: A Novel

By Ana Menéndez

"This is a story about a building in South Miami Beach – actually, about apartment 2B, and the tenants who have lived there over a 70-year period. Their stories infuse the apartment with energy and history. Ana Menéndez shared so much!"

–Linda Bond, Auntie's Bookstore, Spokane, WA

Your Next  Great Read

The Angel of Rome: And Other Stories

By Jess Walter

"The first sentences in this astonishing collection dare you not to read further. Walter exposes his characters for what they are in subtle and startling ways. The stories are profound, hilarious, and suspenseful, leaving us wisdom."

–Alice Meyer, Beaverdale Books, Des Moines, IA

Your Next  Great Read

The Cloisters: A Novel

By Katy Hays

"An atmospheric masterpiece! Ann Stillwell becomes increasingly obsessed with the occult after discovering a hidden 15th-century deck of tarot cards at The Cloisters. Hays creates a world so sinister that it is a character in itself."

–Sharon Davis, Book Bound Bookstore, Blairsville, GA

Your Next  Great Read

Mercury Pictures Presents: A Novel

By Anthony Marra

"Mercury Pictures Presents is an utterly satisfying novel, full of rich characters and a beautifully choreographed plot told with wry humor, great love, and writing so smart you'll want to underline every paragraph. Read it!"

–Kris Kleindienst, Left Bank Books, St. Louis, MO

Your Next

Great Read

The Mermaid of Black Conch: A Novel

By Monique Roffey

"Tragedy displaces pain after a curse born of a thousand-year-old jealousy exiles the beautiful Aycayia to a life in the sea. The Mermaid of Black Conch is a modern-day embodiment of our longing for community. Ruthless and beautiful."

—Kayleen Rohrer, InkLink Books, East Troy, WI

Your Next

Great Read

Our Wives Under the Sea: A Novel

By Julia Armfield

"A haunting meditation on relationships in all their messy glory. The descriptive language is beautiful and unforgettable. I'll be thinking about this one for a while."

—David Vogel, Literati Bookstore, Ann Arbor, MI

Your Next

Great Read

Run Time: A Novel

By Catherine Ryan Howard

"Now THIS is what I love about Catherine Ryan Howard – plots that defy trends, characters dangling over the abyss. Run Time had me exactly where I love to be: teetering on a high wire, completely off balance, and loving every minute of it."

—Tarin Paradise, Naughty Dog Books, Nashville, IN

Your Next

Great Read