

WELCOME TO BOOKSELLING

A list of resources to support booksellers

American Booksellers Association and BookWeb ("ABA" & "BookWeb")

The American Booksellers Association (or "ABA") is the national trade association that supports independent bookstores. ABA also provides resources, like this one, for booksellers. BookWeb is ABA's website, featuring industry information, education sessions, and commonly-used resources for booksellers. Sign up for a free log-on at bookweb.org/create-account to access the entire site (including behind the firewall) and get your own member profile.

The Book Industry Charitable Foundation (Binc)

A nonprofit that helps booksellers with unexpected financial crises and industry scholarships for professional development. Check out bincfoundation.org for more information.

Shelf Awareness ("Shelf")

A free daily bookselling industry e-newsletter highlighting books, bookstores, and bookselling. Sign up for a free subscription at shelf-awareness.com/xs/register/readers.

Bookselling This Week ("BTW")

ABA's free weekly industry e-newsletter. Sign up for a free subscription: bookweb.org/news.

Publishers Weekly ("PW")

Weekly free e-newsletters focused on the international book publishing business. publishersweekly.com/pw/email-subscriptions/index.html

The Independent Bookseller

A free weekly independent newsletter that shares deadlines, action items, and opportunities for Independent booksellers. theindependentbookseller.com

Indie Next List/Kids Next List ("INL" & "KNL")

ABA's list of books recommendations from independent booksellers across the country. Nominate your favorite titles to be included at bookweb.org/indie-next-list-nominations.

Affinity Groups

ABA creates spaces for members of the BIPOC, LGBTQIA+, Disability, and Neurodiverse Communities to connect. To learn more about these affinity groups, subscribe on the ABA Member Dashboard at bookweb.org/user. If you don't have a BookWeb account, sign up at bookweb.org/create-account.

ShopTalks, Technology Meetups, Marketing Meetups

ABA hosts regular sessions to network, socialize and learn from fellow booksellers and experts on a range of topics relevant to bookselling today. Learn more by visiting bookweb.org/aba-meetups.

Free Books!

These programs give booksellers access to free galleys (pre-publication versions of new books), advance copies (pre-publication copies of new books also known as "ARCS"), finished copies of new books, and audiobooks. Get info about Advance Access and NetGalley at bookweb.org/general-member-resources, and visit edelweiss.plus for info about Edelweiss. Get free Audiobook Listening Copies (ALCs) for booksellers from Libro.fm! Create a free account at libro.fm/users/new then email bookstores@libro.fm.
